Miami River

Klime and Anita Kovaceski have taken a run-down riverfront building and created a dimly lit room (that might be the most versatile restaurant space in the city) where you'll feel just as comfortable on an intimate date as you would with your entire family. But the best way to experience their orgy of house-made pizzas and pastas is with a ton of people to share it with, as their extensive wine list, friendly, attentive service, and rich red sauces make this THE go-to place for big, boisterous carb-filled feasts.
